July 2022 - Issue One

This project started with an organic post from me on LinkedIn tagging 30 women who inspired me, with a foot note saying please mention any women who were inspiring to others.

Within 48 hours it grew to well over 700 women being spotlighted!

The concept of this directory was then born and here we now are! 1000+ phenomenal women are listed and come highly recommended. 🙌❤️

I am absolutely delighted that Issue One - July 2022 is published and will be opening up further opportunities for more women to be listed in the updated Issue Two in December 2022. We will develop and enhance the directory into further categories, and more defined descriptions to help find your key women of influence more easily.

Issue TWO will also have 25 featured full length LinkedIn profiles with an in-depth summary of 25 incredible women from different categories.

The aim is to release a new issue every July and December until we reach 10000 inspiring women!

Quite a beautiful thing I'm sure you'll agree?!

Thank you for all your support ❤️

LINKEDIN DIRECTORY OF

1000+ WOMEN
WHO INSPIRE THROUGH THEIR WORK.

This list is intersectional to ensure all gender, race, ethnicity, sexual orientation, gender identity, disability, class and other forms of discrimination, intersect to create unique dynamics and effects.

The women's directory aims to spotlight as many industries expert categories as possible.

No longer will “there just aren't any women” be an excuse for not engaging with female-led businesses or building representative event panels.

Instead, you will have free access to female leaders who can truly support and enhance your business.

The purpose of this is to elevate the work of ALL women, and show absolute true allyship.

This is really important to me personally having spent 25 years working and building businesses, across a multitude of different sectors.

I've seen first-hand the barriers that women face throughout their careers, and the impact this has had on them.

ALL women play a huge part in the evolution of work, business, and society.

I understand my role in spotlighting their work!

👋 I'm Jane and I design scroll-stopping content for business owners & SMEs looking to stand out and scale up online. As a part-time yogi and a full-time gym junkie, I'm pretty big on flexibility, so you can choose any of the below ways to work with me:

✓ Ready-made content packages:

- Need a logo pack for your new biz or side hustle? I got you.
- A full set of editable Canva templates for your socials? Not a problem.
- Transforming your LinkedIn banner from dreary to delightful? That's my jam.
- Business cards, flyers, brochures, presentations, slide decks? You get the idea.

✓ Retainer packages:

- Hiring a full-time designer can be expensive. Use me as an extension of your team instead and only pay for what you need.

✓ Bespoke packages:

- Got something special in mind? I like your style. Let's chat and see if we can bring your idea to life.

Disclaimer:

I'm covered in tattoos and also have some piercings gasps and clutches pearls, so if that offends your delicate retinas then please stop reading now and look elsewhere, because I'm not your gal.

For anyone not trapped in 1984, you can get in touch with me via DM or email me directly at contact@contentbyjane.com.

Recruitment, Training, Consulting

I have been in the field of inclusion and diversity since 1990. Intersectionality is of particular interest, and although my focus since I became disabled in 2004 is on disability, I recognise that many people are disadvantaged by multiple factors.

I founded an exciting award-winning social enterprise called Evenbreak in 2011, run by and for disabled people, which helps inclusive employers attract and retain more talented disabled candidates.

Why would you want to employ disabled people? Well, because we form a valuable pool of talent who are productive, loyal, bring additional skills and help you attract the £249 billion a year that disabled people and our families spend in the UK.

Advertising all your vacancies on Evenbreak's specialist job board means you attract more talented disabled candidates than you would find elsewhere, and also positions you very powerfully as an inclusive employer of choice.

Subscribing to Evenbreak's best practice portal means all your people become more confident and competent around inclusion and accessibility.

Employers already benefitting from Evenbreak include John Lewis, Unilever, Channel 4, HS2, and many, many more.

Our many thousands of diverse candidates come from a very wide range of sources and have a vast array of experience, skills, talents and qualifications.

We offer support to employers in becoming more inclusive and accessible through our bespoke training and consultancy.

We offer disabled candidates relevant and accessible careers support delivered by careers professionals with lived experience of disability through our Career Hive (<https://hive.evenbreak.co.uk>)

For many years, I climbed the corporate ladder as a lawyer, one step at a time, ambitious and confident.

And then came kids...

For some reason, I naively thought things would pick up where they left off where my career was concerned post parental leave.

The reality was very different:

- Loss of sponsorship and networks
- The sudden biases and perceptions related to my need for flexibility
- Assumptions relating to my ambition (or perhaps lack thereof) post motherhood
- The overwhelming sense of guilt at work as I managed work around drop-offs and pick-ups and at home as I struggled to be present
- Burnout as I tried to “do it all” and “have it all”
- Battling the social and cultural conditioning that, despite my strong feminist beliefs, led me to step into the role of “household manager” and the stress that ensued. I was broken.

And somewhere along the journey, between the title of “lawyer” and the title of “mother”, I also lost my own sense of identity. This is my story, but my story is not unique. As women, we often face an uphill battle in the workplace. A legacy of patriarchy and inequity that continues to shape our workplaces today, made even more challenging for those who have other intersectionality such as race, culture, disability, sexuality, accents and more.

It is for this reason that I advocate for change when it comes to gender and racial equity. It is for this reason that I share my stories. AND it is for this reason that I want to help you CHANGE YOUR NARRATIVE.

It will take time to break down entrenched biases and prejudice, but that does not need to stop YOU from getting clarity on WHO you are, WHAT you value and HOW to live your life more purposefully and intentionally. It does not need to stop you from unlocking your X-FACTOR and supercharging your career while also having the home life you desire.

If you are a mum (or mum-to-be) working in professional services, struggling with how to “have it all”, send me a DM and let’s have a chat.

Trans Awareness Training, Public Speaking

I am a woman on a mission! But not just any woman and not just any mission...

I came out very publicly as being transgender in 2018 after living for 48 years as a man. I formed Cool2BTrans to reach out to other trans people to let them know that it's OK to be trans (because it is) and also to show everyone else that trans people are just ordinary people who want to be happy - just like everyone else.

I help organisations with diversity and inclusion by providing trans awareness training and inspirational public speaking globally - both in-person and virtually. I appear regularly in the media and I am on both ITV's and the BBC's list of experts. Also, I was proud to be awarded the Fellowship of the Royal Society for Arts, Manufactures and Commerce in 2021. I can always be relied upon to talk about trans issues with authority and sensitivity as well as injecting a little fun. I also support trans employees, their colleagues and their employers through their coming out process at work, as this can be a stressful time for all parties.

I strive to be a positive role model for the trans community by showing that you can be trans and happy, as sadly so many trans people don't know that. My cheeky sense of humour has become a hallmark of most of my public and media appearances. A recent participant of one of my webinars for Virgin Media O2 said "I personally have never laughed and learnt so much in one hour!" and one from Deutsche Telekom said "it was the most exciting training in years!" Another described it as "a masterclass in storytelling".

I am more than just a gobby trans woman though... I have been a professional photographer and filmmaker for over 35 years. I am currently* ranked 2nd out of 1,453 UK photographers on Free Index, with 202 reviews & an average rating of 4.9 out of 5 (*stats on 10/11/21). Also, I have been commissioned twice to photograph The Queen inside Buckingham Palace. I enjoy salsa dancing and I play the guitar and banjo - but not all at the same time! I also have a pilot's licence having flown light aircraft for 20 years. It's currently lapsed, but I used to fly aerobatics in an open-cockpit bi-plane. What better way to dry your hair??!

People produce their best work when they're happy. Now I'm living my truth, I am really happy! Please contact me now so I can make YOU happy. I promise I'll be gentle with you. Or maybe not... MWAHAHAHA! ;-)

Recruitment, Strategic Consulting, Executive Search, Executive Coaching

I started Harper and Gray because I believe that the 'secret sauce' for exceptional teams is diversity of thought.

I wanted to recruit strong talent for organizations who both respected and valued difference.

Leaders who understood that representation was only the first step toward a culture of equity and inclusion.

As a minority and woman-owned business I wanted to go the extra mile and provide balanced candidate shortlists that reflected the true diversity of the world we live in.

- We help companies to hire talent that directly impacts organizational culture. This includes diversity practitioners, human resources, learning & development and talent acquisition.

- Our technology team can help you recruit software developers, software engineers, project managers and business analysts.

- As an added bonus we also have workshops to help our clients with fostering inclusion, countering bias and recruitment strategies for a diversified team.

A bit about Me:

- Co-founded the North American business for Sthree and grew it from 0 to $300m and 500 headcount.
- Named Top 100 influential Staffing Leaders by SIA and Top 50 DEI influencer.
- Woman of the Year Stevie by American Business Awards and Best North American Sales Director by WISA.
- Qualified and accredited Executive Coach and Hogan Certified. Coaching and Business Mentoring is a passion and I maintain a small private coaching practice and manage a limited roster of Clients.

Mental Health Coach, 1:1 Coaching, Group Coaching, Training for Men

👉 The men I work with work HARD. But they are tired. Emotionally, mentally, and physically.

Over the last two years, I've worked with 100's of men to understand the struggles, dynamics, and difficulties MEN face on a day-to-day basis. I use a combination of trauma therapy training, neuroscience, action items, and accountability to help you not only GET RESULTS but KEEP them. We dive deep into the root cause and rewire the neural pathways to make sure habits are changed and behaviors are replaced.

👉 My clients have struggled with:

❖ Alcohol abuse ❖ Unsupportive partners ❖ Marital issues and stress ❖ Adultery ❖ Feeling "stuck" in business or in life ❖ Low self-confidence and self-esteem ❖ Addiction ❖ Fear of failure

◆ We break it down by:

- ✓ Reconnecting with the inner Masculine
- ✓ Targeting the source of the anxiety, guilt, shame, workaholism, etc
- ✓ Setting actionable goals between sessions to see tangible results.
- ✓ Creating a system and routine that WORKS for you to release, connect, and handle emotions front this point forward.

All sessions are backed by science that you can trust and rely on between sessions. I believe in HEALTH care, NOT sick care. My goal is to create the fastest way possible for you to heal. Most of my clients see results after just one session.

For a lot of men, seeking a coach or mentor makes them feel weak because of the stigma society has placed. If you're feeling this way now, remember that every great champion has a coach, and when we do coaching, you grow beyond the limitations of your fears. We create a safe space together that is free of judgment and offers only support with whatever you're struggling with.

Accounting, Cloud Accounting

I'm Francesca co-founder of Future Cloud Accounting and founder of my local NYPsocial networking group.

I really believe I can change the world, change the way people think, especially when it comes to accounting. I need you to know it's not just a numbers game It's about developing a business owner and looking at your business as whole. It's not just about the figures.

I LOVE finding out about people. If we work together, I'll ask you lots of questions. Be ready. I love a challenge and I love to challenge you too. I've made it a mission to help you succeed; yes, I've made mistakes in the past but I've learnt from them and I want to share those lessons with you.

I'm a huge user of social media, I believe that sharing my business journey on LinkedIn, Instagram and Facebook has really helped my success story! #thejourneyisreal #justpostit. If we work together, I'll encourage you to harness the power of social media too. Let me tell you my story and how I got to where I am now.

As a single mum of two, I decided 11 years ago that I wanted to create a better life for myself and my children so I went back into education. I spent all my spare time studying and saving towards buying my first home. I've always had a passion for accountancy, so I worked hard and focussed my efforts on joining a top practice. As well as studying, I did some voluntary work in the industry to become fully immersed in the subject.

I graduated in 2014. All the hard work was worth it. After applying twice to work at a top local accounting firm, they eventually offered me an amazing opportunity.

I asked lots of questions and really challenged myself to learn about all areas of the business. I was then introduced to cloud-based accounting and I saw an opportunity to make a change and move away from the 'old school' methods of accounting. It was this drive to change an industry that prompted me and my business partner, Charlotte Wilson to establish Future Cloud Accounting.

It's been hard work getting to where I am today. My drive is born out of wanting to create a better life for myself and my children. Having worked so hard to get here, it feels like a natural progression to start inspiring other business owners, like you. I want you to realise that you can succeed.

I began RADICAL RECRUIT because I believe it is time to boldly and unapologetically challenge the status quo. It is time to redress the imbalance of opportunity afforded to those labelled; 'care leaver', 'disabled', 'gang member', 'black', 'uneducated', 'inexperienced', 'homeless', 'criminal', or generally, just 'not good enough'. It is time to call out businesses who talk a big game when it comes to their commitment to inclusion, equality and diversity but whose policies fail to translate into practice. I am RADICAL.

I have witnessed the way in which paid work transformed the lives of more than 400 women who had contact with the criminal justice system, in my previous role as Chief Operating Officer at Working Chance.

Throughout my 15-year career in the human services sector, both in the UK and Australia, I excelled in developing and implementing services which strengthened communities and enabled vulnerable people to live lives that they love.

I have brought together a community of like minded people from disparate backgrounds, to champion the business and ethical case for change to the way businesses source, recruit, and develop hidden talent. I invite you to join the recruitment revolution.

AN INTERVIEW

WITH JO MAJOR

Why is a directory like this so important?

It's organic and has grown because other women chose to elevate the work of other women, for me that's what has made this project so significant.

It isn't one of those directories that folks have had to pay to play, it's a result of those everyday interactions that we've had with Women that have impacted either our work or personal lives, inspired us, helped us grow our businesses or contributed to our growth. It's almost a way of saying thank you, I see you, I hear you, and I appreciate you.

What has made you get behind it?

Honestly – I've grown tired of not seeing myself, whether that be in a consultancy role, on the panel of an event or in the NED space.

Those lame excuses I hear regularly about a lack of representation 'we couldn't find a woman, there are no women' when questioned about the overrepresentation of men. This directory challenges that notion because here, in one place you have hundreds of women, potentially thousands globally – no more excuses, they are just a click away on LinkedIn.

I am also proud that my name sits amongst such a rich mix of ALL women, the way in which it's been created has meant more diversity and representation, this isn't just one person's network, perspective, or opinion on who makes the cut.

How do Men play a role in equality?

That's a massive question, do we have the space? I mean I'd like to see men actively using the directory, I'd also like to see them contributing to its growth.

The fact it's been mostly women highlighting the work of other women is telling, especially as this whole movement was created by a man, working in a majority male space. In relation to this project, I'd like to see a proactive effort to stop the default setting of men reaching out to their immediate networks when they need consultancy services.

I'd like to see men refusing to join all-male speaking events, a solid commitment to hiring women for NED roles, and just more consciousness around overrepresentation of folks like them in the rooms they often enter. You need to SEE the problem before you can begin to fix it, too many are still oblivious.

purpose-led leadership.

What must change in the workplace?

The structure of the workplace needs to seriously catch up, I mean we are still using the 1950s model of work in a world and society that's totally changed. Built around men and their power structures, it's just not fit for purpose anymore and it certainly doesn't allow for inclusion, especially for women.

Nothing will ever change unless we change – that's when, how and where we work, how we promote, how we reward, our family-building policies, talent attraction, hiring processes, our boards, leadership styles and the technology we use to name just a few.

Anyone running a business that lacks representation should be doing the work to fully understand how it got itself into that position and make the changes needed that break the cycle – not hiring themselves out of their overrepresentation problems.

What would be your advice to young leaders looking for representation from the start?

As tempting as it may be, don't lay the foundations with your immediate network, these people will stick and attack folks just like them as you grow, if overrepresentation is an issue in the early days, it will simply multiply.

Thinking about diversity after your growth spurt is too late, you need to grow with representation front and centre of your development strategy. Be conscious of your hiring strategy, often start-ups don't have one and recruit through referrals, don't do this, before you know it your business will be full of clones who are interconnected from the same spaces.

Consciously seek the perspective, support, and expertise of people outside of your usual world, and actively choose to engage people that are not the usual suspects – it will transform your mindset and your business!

Thank you, Chris, for providing such a positive platform and for acknowledging your position of influence to drive change, and thank you to everyone who's contributed to this ever-growing list – remember a list is just a list without action, let's not allow this to be popped on the shelf to gather dust, let's use it to turn the dial and push for equality.

Ex-global top biller at SThree (£15m annual fees) and £25 million Recruitment business owner turned purpose-driven NED.

Almost all business problems are people problems. Because people without a purpose have no centralised reason driving them to perform.

After exiting my last business, I now coach leaders on how to build purpose-led businesses that perform.

We work on best process, vision execution and harmonising your life with your work.

I work with leaders in service-based businesses on:

- 🔥 Staffing Solutions - Perm, Interim.
- 🔥 BD and Account Growth.
- 🔥 Talent Management, Retention & Development.
- 🔥 Organisational Development.
- 🔥 Vision, Mission and Values.
- 🔥 Get Fit for sale MBO/MBI/Exit.
- 🔥 Developing robust value propositions and marketing strategies.

I'm an outspoken advocate of Mental health (MHFA), mindset and self care.

I'm the proud dad to three incredible boys and am not afraid to tell you how it is.
